

BARNHART LOG LOADERS

BARNHART LOG LOADER

The Barnhart Log Loader was a small 360-degree swing crane built by the Marion Steam Shovel Co. of Marion, OH. The first one was built in 1886 for Pennsylvania lumberman Frank Goodyear. This was a converted steam shovel with a stiff boom. Marion co-founder and engineer, Henry M. Barnhart, developed a more stable model that was marketed as the "Barnhart Log Loader". Goodyear bought at least 25 of the loaders for his own company and acted as an agent selling loaders to other loggers. The Barnhart weighed 16 tons, had a 25' wood boom and was powered by a 6½X8 2-cylinder engine. A 36X90" boiler provided steam at 120 psi. The loader road on a 6' gauge truck with 16 rollers and winched itself along rails on the car tops.

In 1906 the name was changed to "Model 10 Marion Loader". A total of 218 Barnharts were produced between 1886 and 1927. Besides the Model 10 there were 20 of the heavier Model 12 built, all between 1906 and 1916. These weighed 20 tons and had a 23' 9" fabricated steel boom. The Model 12 had 7½X8 cylinders and a 54X83" boiler that operated at 125 psi. In addition to the hoisting engine there was also a swing engine with 2 5X6 cylinders. The only known existing Barnharts are a Model 10 at the Pennsylvania Lumber Museum, PO Box 239, Galeton, Pennsylvania 16922, 814-435-2652, the remains of a Model 10 on the South Fork of Cherry River (Cherry River Boom & Lbr.), a Model 12 (C/N 2633) at the Elk River Historical Museum, corner of Main & 2nd, Elk River, ID 208-826-3390 and a wrecked Model 10 (#2939) in the woods near Curtis, NY. <http://www.rpicturearchives.net/showPicture.aspx?id=3222071> The loader at Galeton and #2633 have been converted to internal combustion engines but the one at Galeton was converted back to steam by 2009. The Barnharts were intermixed with other products of the company hence the gaps in the numbers. (Hartford) On the lists provided C/N 1722 & 1788 are shown as both Model 10 and Model 12. This would give a total of 216 Model 10 or 18 Model 12 built. In his book White Pine Route Tom Burg states that the Potlatch Lbr. Co. bought parts and built their own Model 12 for use in Idaho. When Marion found out about this they charged Potlatch for a complete loader as their patent had been violated.

The bulk of the information below was provided by George Fizer and The Pennsylvania Lumber Museum and is reported to have come from the Marion Power Shovel Co. records. Unfortunately these records no longer exist. Dates in () are the span of operation of the company. Information added by myself is in bold text. Information added by Tony Howe is in blue text, information in green text added by Marc Reusser. The shipping records of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. from 1914 onward were provided from the Historical Construction Equipment Assn. archives by Tom Berry. This association also has a large collection of Marion factory photographs including many of Barnhart loaders. They can be contacted at 16623 Liberty Hi Road, Bowling Green, Ohio 43402. NOTES

- 241 Also shown as Albert Lewis Lumber & Manufacturing Company of Stull & Anderson, PA
- 349 The dates for the Northwest Lbr. Co. of Kerriston, WA (1908-1929) don't seem to match the date of this machine.

- 526 The Sample Lbr. Co. was taken over by the Kaul family from Pennsylvania in 1895 and renamed the Kaul Lbr. Co. in 1902. They are listed as having 2 Barnharts in 1909 (412 & 526?) and moved to Kaulton, AL in 1912. (Lawson)
- 527 G. W. Huntley & Son-Supposedly, was reorganized as Huntley Lumber Company. Mill was at Neola, West Virginia. May have also had a second West Virginia operation elsewhere. Supposedly, the Neola operation was taken over by Greenbrier Lumber Company, then possibly back to Huntley Lumber. There is a bit of confusion over this Neola based operation and those that operated it. (Fizer)
- 538, 563 & 1009 Sacramento Mountain Lbr Co in April 1916 purchased two loaders, type not specified, from Alamogordo Lbr Co. In Sept 1927, Southwest Lbr Co, successor to Sacramento Mtn Lbr, had one American and one Barnhart loader. (Hereford)
- 732 This was the first of five Barnharts purchased by CRB&L. At least two of the Barnharts were converted to internal combustion and were still on the property in 1959. W. M. Ritter bought out CRB&L in 1959 and then sold out to Georgia-Pacific Corp. in 1960. The railroad was closed in 1968. (Warden)
- 769 Tallahala Lbr. Co. mill was located at Ellisville, MS from 1900 to 1903. From 1903 until 1917, the company remained in existence as a timber holding and equipment purchasing corporation, though no sawmill or logging railroad was operated. During this period, equipment purchased under the name Tallahala Lbr. Co. was used by one of the other Denkmann-owned mills in MS or LA. These include the Appollonia Lbr. Co. at Pelahatchie, MS; Pearl River Valley Lbr. Co. at Canton; Pine Lbr. Co. at Mish, MS; Easterling Lbr. Co. at Ora, MS; Moreton & Helms Lbr. Co. at Cold Springs, MS; Amos Kent Lbr. & Brick at Kentwood, LA; and the Natalbany Lbr. Co. at Natalbany, LA. In 1917, the Tallahala Lbr. Co. acquired the Easterling Lbr. Co. mill at Ora, MS, and operated it until 1921.
- 896, 928, 959 & 960 Keystone Lbr. Co. was acquired by CPL (Central Pennsylvania Lbr. Co.?) in 1902
- 943 I believe this should be "W. S. Tolbard". He was originally a logging contractor, then a founder of the Tygart's River Lumber Company at Mill Creek, West Virginia. I believe he was acquiring this Barnhart for the Tygart's River firm. (Fizer)
- 948 Location was Hambleton, West Virginia. Believed transferred to Callisch Lumber Company at Ruthbell, West Virginia, with a later lease also to Kendall Lumber Company at Ruthbell. (Fizer)
- 1094 Grayson sold out to Fairwood Lbr. Co. in 1906. Fairwood sold out to US Spruce Lbr. Co. and the Barnhart went to them. See Logging Railroads of the Blue Ridge and Smoky Mountains Vol. 1 by Thomas Fetters.
- 1159 Built with special tanks.
- 1168 see 527
- 1239 see 526
- 1272 Possibly to John Curry Lbr. Co. Jenningsston (Currytown), WV, then to Perley & Crockett Lbr. Co. (same location) 08-08
- 1478 Location was Laneville, West Virginia. Operation later acquired by Parsons Pulp & Lumber Company. Supposedly, after the Laneville mill sawed-out the railroad equipment there was transfer to the P. P. & L. Co's Horton, West Virginia, mill location. (Fizer)
- 1598 Most likely #X6 at Cusick, WA (in the Pend Orielle Valley) (extra water tank on roof) see photo at http://www.steaminthewoods.com/LoadingLogs_CusickWA_copy.jpg
The IW&N operated the Idaho & Northern RR out of Nampa, ID from 1902-1912 when that line was taken over by the Oregon Short Line (UP). The I&WN also built a line from Couer d'Alene, ID to Metaline Falls, WA between 1907 and 1916 when they sold out to the Milwaukee Road.
- 1788 Seen at Potlatch in the early 1960s as a slideback loader.
- 1969 Purchased Fall 1911 for $2600, heavily rebuilt late 1934, new 26'6" boom 1938, last used 1947. (Bagdon)
- 2539, 5610 & 5839 Hopkins was a machinery dealer in Ottawa.
- 2543 Location was Ervin, West Virginia. Operation later acquired by Keystone Manufacturing Company (headquartered in Elkins, W. Va.) Keystone Mfg. failed in "the Depression" and eventually trustee arranged for Morrison, Gross & Company (headquartered also in Elkins)

- to finish out the Ervin timber. A Barnhart was still on property 1949, but unknown if it is same (#2543).
- 2548 Kays-Walker is typed in and Blackwood is hand written beside it.
- 2632 Mounted on a heavy wood sled faced with railroad iron. Converted to diesel 1943, scrapped about 1949.
- 2633 Mounted on a steel sled (extra water tank on roof). A. Guthrie & Co. were logging contractors for Cascade Lbr. Co. Photograph on page 37 of Logging Railroads of the West by Kramer Adams shows a Marion slideback loader in use at Elk River in 1928. The loader is now on a welded sled much longer than the original.
- 2710 Foley Brothers & Northern Construction Co. built the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway (CNoR, now CNR), from Ruel, ONT and had a mill at Westree, ONT.
- 2711 Likely Boone Tbr. Co. of Clothier, WV
- 2938 Photographed 05-33 at Gallup, NM in transit to Cia Maderera de Durango at El Salto, Mexico.
- 3766 This loader had #3833 written in the shipping list but this was crossed out and #3733 added.
- 5610 & 5639 The body of one of these wound up as a storage shed.

J. J. Newman Lumber Co. (Hattiesburg, MS) ledgers list the company as purchasing loaders from Goodyear Lumber Co. or Marion Steam Shovel Co. on 02-28-02, 02-20-03, and 01-23-04.

Tremont Lbr. Co., Tremont, LA, is listed as owning 3 Barnhart loaders in 1910.
 (Listed for sale 01-15-16.)

Gates Lumber Co., Wilmar, AR, is listed as owning 2 Barnhart loaders in 1907. One of them is c/n 966 listed above.

Babcock Brothers Lumber Co., Babcock, GA, is listed as owning 1 Barnhart loader in 1907.

The Emporium Lbr. Co. is supposed to have taken 3 Barnharts with them to New York State. The remains of one are supposed to still be in the woods there. The remains of another one went to a privet museum and was later scrapped.
